

How well do you know?

Learning Outcome:

•A light-hearted way to encourage communication between a parent and child.

Equipment:

•‘How well do you know’ sheets. As many as relevant for the people involved.

Instructions:

•Print off (or write for yourself) the lists of questions – one for the parents for each child involved, and one each for the child for the parent(s) involved.

•Individually, go through your sheets and try to answer as many questions about the other person/people as you can.

•After a while, get together and see what you got right. How did you do? Do you know each other well? Or were there surprises?

•You can obviously add any questions you want to this.

How well do you know your parent?

Who is their best friend?
Who is their greatest influence (from outside the family)?
Who is their favourite teacher?
Who is their hero?
What subject does your child enjoy most?
What sport do they enjoy most?
What is their favourite TV programme/film/You Tube channel?
What is their favourite possession?
What do they find most relaxing?
What is your child's greatest disappointment this month?
When do they like to do their homework?
What is their greatest fear?
What is their fondest memory?
What is their favourite family occasion?
Does your child feel too tall or too small for their age?

How well do you know your Child?

Who is their best friend?
Who is their greatest influence (from outside of your family)?
Who is their hero?
What is their favourite hobby/past time?
What style of music do they enjoy most?
What/who is their favourite band/musician?
What sport does your parent enjoy most?
What is their favourite TV programme/film/You Tube Channel?
What is their favourite possession?
What do they find most relaxing?
What is their greatest disappointment this month?
Do they bring work home?
What is their greatest fear?
What is their fondest memory?
What is their favourite family occasion?